

V. Malyshko, Y. Borodin

Concept of business agreement: doctrinal aspect

In the conditions of formation of socially focused market economy the economic contract is the main means of the organization of the relations between subjects of managing, the flexible regulator of economic activity and the instrument of its planning, a form and means of the organization of economic communications.

This article analyzes the views of scholars on the concept of a business agreement, given its characteristics. Determined that the main value of a business agreement is to build a model of contractual relationships and establishing the legal regime of interaction between the parties within the designated contracting model.

A contract is a universal regulator of a wide variety of public relations, content, nature and trends are constantly changing.

The purpose of this study is to analyze the existing legal doctrine of economic theories of contract, review the doctrinal provisions of the contract in economic exchange and determination of its characteristic features.

Keywords: contract, economic contract, signs of the economic contract, agreement, arrangement, subject of managing.